

Indian Humor

Wade Deloria, Jr. (Sioux)
The campers.

"The campers, however, can barely be categorized as "merely" organized.

Organized
to the campers, they are the campers. The campers, however, can barely be categorized as "merely" organized.

Organized
to the campers, they are the campers. The campers, however, can barely be categorized as "merely" organized.

Organized
to the campers, they are the campers. The campers, however, can barely be categorized as "merely" organized.

Organized
The weather was pretty cold and the light curtain was held up by a stand. The room was dimly lit, and the table lamp was lit up. The instructor, Mrs. Johnson, was doing a lesson on nutrition.

The class was small, and everyone was focused. Mrs. Johnson had placed a few pictures on the board to illustrate her points. She was explaining the importance of vitamins and minerals in our diet.

"Vitamins are essential for our health," she said. "They help our bodies do many things, like grow and develop." She pointed to a picture of a child and a healthy adult, emphasizing the importance of proper nutrition.

The students took notes, writing down key points. One student, Sarah, asked, "What happens if you don't get enough vitamins?"

Mrs. Johnson explained that a lack of certain vitamins could lead to deficiencies, which could cause problems with growth and development. "It's important to eat a balanced diet," she said.

The class ended with a discussion about healthy eating habits. Mrs. Johnson encouraged the students to eat a variety of foods and to drink plenty of water. She reminded them that nutrition is important for their overall health and well-being.
called the Indian "The Indian jungle is a very deep place and there are many dangers. The Indian is very wild and dangerous. He can attack you at any time. Be careful and do not approach the Indian too closely."

The Indian and the White Man. The Indian is very different from the White Man. He lives in the jungle and has no knowledge of the White Man's world. He speaks a different language and has a different way of life. He is very strong and can hunt and gather food. He is very brave and can protect himself from danger.

The White Man is very different from the Indian. He lives in cities and has a lot of knowledge. He speaks a different language and has a different way of life. He is very weak and can be easily attacked. He is very afraid of the Indian and tries to keep away from him."

The Indian is very proud of his country and his culture. He is very proud of his language and his traditions. He is very proud of his family and his community. The Indian is very strong and can protect himself from danger.

The Indian is very proud of his country and his culture. He is very proud of his language and his traditions. He is very proud of his family and his community. The Indian is very strong and can protect himself from danger.

The Indian is very proud of his country and his culture. He is very proud of his language and his traditions. He is very proud of his family and his community. The Indian is very strong and can protect himself from danger.
The doctor took him into a room that contained many different machines and asked him, "What's the problem?"

"It's my leg," the patient replied. "I can't walk."

The doctor checked the patient's leg and said, "It looks like you have a broken ankle. We'll have to keep it in a cast for a while."

"But I need to walk," the patient protested. "I have a job to go to.”

"We'll have to find a way to get you around while your leg heals," the doctor promised.
Did Indians still live in tepees, she inquired. He admitted shyly that he did. She queried if the man was being treated well, he assured her that he was. "The judge, he is so kind," he said. "He understands our ways but is fair too."

The judge, accustomed toattend English-speaking people, appeared taken aback. He was not used to this kind of direct questioning. He was unsure how to respond to her questions, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worried about the hearing, but he was determined to do the best he could. He was worr